HCA President's Report 2011-2012

It is my great pleasure to present to you my final report as President of the Harvard Club of Australia. With the support of a committed Council and an engaged membership, your Club has excelled in delivering on its goals of:

- providing members with the opportunity to regularly meet and socialize with fellow club members
- furthering the learning of club members
- promoting Harvard University in Australia and assist Australians wishing to study there.

Events

Our 50th Anniversary year has seen an increasing attendance by members at our club activities, including younger members of the Club. The highlight for the year was our 50th Anniversary AGM and Dinner with Ambassador Jeffrey Bleich delivering the Australia Address and congratulatory video-recorded messages from President Drew Faust and our Club Patron Sir James Wolfensohn. Two longstanding Club members who have been major contributors to shaping the Club over many years Ted Blamey MBA '70 and Clive Gard AMP '78 were installed as Legends of the Club and Life Members.

Another highlight was our Non-profit Awards Lunch with Simon Mordent's insightful address challenging Australians to donate more to nonprofit organizations in arts and sciences. Congratulations to this year's fellowship recipients Anita Kumar and Neil Carrington.

The Club weekend in Canberra was well attended by members from NSW and Victoria. It included a private showing and dinner at the National Gallery. Many thanks to Michelle and the ACT members as well as Zeke Solomon for organizing a great weekend.

We had outstanding musical performances this year from visiting Harvard graduate star concert pianist Berenika as well as the usual amusing and entertaining performances by the Krokodiloes and the Din and Tonics. Once again I would like to thank Helen Wright and the host families who are opening their homes to the Kroks and Dins every year.

Visits by Harvard professors are always very popular events. Unfortunately not all professors visiting Australia take time out to meet with Club members. This year, in addition to the professors leading our Leadership Program and Negotiation Workshop, we had a great dinner with Professor Amy Edmondson talking to us about "Teaming", and returning Chair of Australian Studies, Professor Nicholas Jose presented a lecture in Adelaide about literary links between Australia and China.

The Harvard Club of Australia Philanthropy

HCA Philanthropy is the wholly owned subsidiary of the Club, and the umbrella organization for our various scholarships and fellowships. HCA Philanthropy operates the Leadership Program and Nonprofit Workshop, using the funds generated as well as funds donated by members to support the Australia-Harvard Fellowship, the Roberta Sykes Harvard Club Scholarship, the Menzies Scholarship and other exchanges between the University and Australia.

HCA Philanthropy has an independent Board, elected by the HCA Council consisting of Past President Chris Smith MBA '77 as Chairman and Directors: Past President Melinda Muth MBA '81, Philip Hartog MBA'81, the President and the Treasurer of the Club as ex officio directors. Clive Gard AMP'78 was appointed Director and Secretary. The majority of the funds of HCA Philanthropy continue to be managed by Perpetual Trustees.

The 2011 Leadership Program generated a surplus of $193,435, which was added to the funds of HCA Philanthropy.

Menzies Scholarship 2012

The Menzies Scholarship is funded by contributions from Harvard alumni and by the Menzies Foundation and is jointly administered by the Harvard Club of Australia, the Australian National University and the Menzies Foundation.

Scholars are chosen on the basis of their potential for making a significant contribution to Australia and their intellectual ability, intellectual qualities, and breadth of vision. This year's scholars are part of the vanguard of Australian talent that attends Harvard.

Our three Menzies Scholars for 2012 are:

Mr Tristan Webster, HBS: Employed by AT Kearney in Melbourne then Cambridge after interning at Macquarie Bank in Sydney in 2007/8. Tristan left Kew as Dux then studied Commerce at Melbourne University. Interested in the interface of social entrepreneurship and government policy, he'll focus on the application of business discipline and accountability in the not for profit sector. He views these as important not only as charitable causes but also as viable long term investments. A keen basketball player and coach, Tristan brings an intellectual curiosity, strong social conscience and driving passion to his endeavours, tempered with an unassuming modesty and a sense of humour.

Mr Matthew Brown, HBS: Awarded University and Commander-in-Chief Medals when he completed his aeronautical engineering and RAAF pilot training at the ADFA campus of the University NSW. Matthew went on to win a Rhodes Scholarship and study for a second Bachelor's Degree in finance, economics and politics at Oxford. Travelling widely (24 countries to date!) when not involving himself in martial arts or mountaineering. He is currently interning with Makena Capital, an endowment-model investment management firm in Menlo, California. He wants to focus his numeracy and analytical skills at Harvard then gain further experience of international markets and capital flows in the USA before returning home to Australia to make a social contribution, perhaps through superannuation management in the public sector.

Ms Jessica Roth, HLS/HKS: Whilst bringing her infectious enthusiasm to board positions at her synagogue and the Shalom Institute and to many roles (including National President) in the 9,000-member Australian Union of Jewish Students, Jessica studied law and arts at the University of NSW. From there she became Associate to the President of the Australian Human Rights Commission. She is currently at Mallesons in Sydney, but will head to Harvard for a joint degree in human rights law and in business and government policy under Professor Ruggie. On returning to Australia she intends to focus on increasing the awareness of business value in promoting human rights through teaching and working in government, perhaps back with the Human Rights Commission.

Roberta Sykes Harvard Club Scholarship

The Roberta Sykes Harvard Club Scholarship is for talented Indigenous Australians who have potential to become leaders in both their field of study and in their communities. The Scholarship was formed in honour of Roberta Sykes (1943-2010), an Australian poet and author, and activist in Indigenous affairs, who graduated from Harvard with a PhD in 1984. As a result of her own experiences in struggling to obtain adequate funding to complete her studies at Harvard, it became part of her life's work to encourage and support Indigenous Australians to realise their dreams for further education.

Following the inaugural winner in 2011 (Tim Goodwin, LLM, Harvard), the scholarship was awarded in 2012 to Cissy Gore-Birch Gault for an executive education program at the Harvard Kennedy School entitled "Mastering Negotiation." As a senior manager at MG Corporation, a leading Indigenous organisation in the East Kimberley, as well as a leader in her local community, mastering the art of negotiation is critical.

"This course provided me with the tools, and information of how to make a deal happen, through time and preparation, research, and building coalitions," she said upon her return from Cambridge. "Being granted this opportunity to travel overseas and participate in a course at Harvard Kennedy School has broadened my thinking in a way that is empowering. This course has encouraged me to continue to be a voice for our people and work towards negotiating for the right reasons."

The scholarship is co-funded with the Roberta Sykes Indigenous Education Foundation and forms part of the Club's philanthropic program, together with the RG Menzies Scholarship, to give outstanding Australians an opportunity to undertake postgraduate studies at Harvard.

Australia-Harvard Fellowship

This year has seen a new record in our A-HF awards with eight researchers from Harvard coming to Australia during 2012 and two Australian researchers visiting Harvard to follow up on projects with previous visiting professors.

A special thank you to John Turner AMP'86, who has been the driving force behind the Fellowship for the past six years.

Non-Profit Fellowship

Thanks to the generosity of Bill and Lea Ferris and the energy and capability of Ted Blamey, the club celebrated the 12th Year of the Non-profit Fellowship Program.

The 2012 Fellowships were awarded to Ms Anita Kumar, Chief Executive Officer, The Infants Home and to Dr Neil Carrington, Chief Executive Officer, ACT for Kids. Both fellows attended Strategic Perspectives in Non-profit Management (SPNM), the annual strategy course for senior non-profit executives held at HBS in July 2012.

The Fellowships were awarded at the annual Non-profit Luncheon on Tuesday, 19 June 2012 by US Consul General Niels Marquardt. The Nonprofit Leadership Address was given by Simon Mordant AM Chairman, Museum of Contemporary Art.

Chairman of the 2012 HCA NPF Committee, Mr. Ted Blamey, was assisted in the selection process by Lisa George, Tony Massaro, Patrick Regan and Tony Thirlwell.

Sir James Wolfensohn Public Service Scholarship

An exciting new initiative is the recently announced Public Service Scholarship sponsored by our Club Patron Sir James Wolfensohn. The Sir James Wolfensohn Public Service Scholarship will enable senior Australian public servants to undertake an executive education program at Harvard's Kennedy School. Each year, a minimum of two Wolfensohn Scholarships will be awarded. By funding executive education at the world's leading school of Government, the Wolfensohn Scholarship is intended to support the design and delivery of good public policy in Australia.

This initiative was conceived and led by our Honorary Secretary, Naomi Flutter together with our Vice President Patrick Regan.

Leadership Programs

The 2012 Leadership Program, titled "Designing and Executing Strategy" was held on 29 July – 3 August, once again at The Novotel Manly Beach. This year's program was conducted by HBS Professors Stephen Bradley and Bruce Herrald.

The HCA Non-Profit Workshop was again held following the leadership program. The two HBS professors joined Professor Melinda Muth in presenting the workshop. The Non-profit Workshop has become an important development activity for many Australian non-profits who aim to send members of their executive team each year.

The success of the Leadership Programs is due in large part to the able management of Clive Gard and the team at Anderson Knight.

Monday Club

The Harvard Monday Club provides an opportunity for members to listen to the views of prominent Australian thinkers and achievers at informal Club luncheons.

In 2012 we listened to Professor Simon Chapman PhD FASSA Professor in Public Health at the University of Sydney about smoking as a public health issue; Dr Brendon O'Connor, Associate Professor at the United States Study Centre, University of Sydney since 2008 discussed The Primaries: Free Global Advertising for America. Jill Roe AO professor emerita in modern history at Macquarie University talked about the famous Australian writer Miles Franklin, and also her experience in the Australian Studies Chair. Martin Green currently a Scientia Professor at the University of New South Wales, and Executive Research Director of the University's Photovoltaic Centre for Excellence, Renewable Energy Paths - Solar Photovoltaics - Can We Deliver? Linda Jacobson, East Asia Program Director at the Lowy Institute for International Policy - How China Views the World. Elizabeth Ann Macgregor OBE, Why the Museum of Contemporary Art matters. Dr Helen Caldicott an Australian paediatrician and anti-nuclear activist, The Existential Threat of Nuclear Weapons

Thank you to Councillor Richard Broinowski for continuing to manage this consistently stimulating and well received club event.

Schools and Scholarships Committee

Sarah Strasser led a dedicated team of members who interviewed a number of high school students as part of their application process to Harvard College. College graduates who would like to join the interviewing team should contact Sarah or the President.

Crimson Fellows

Four new Crimson Fellows, having been members for 25 years continuously, join our roll of honour. They are Mr Phil Stern (MBA 1982 NSW); Mr Julian Hercus (AMP 1987 NSW); Mr John Randall (AMP 1986 NSW) and Mr Harley Hooper (OPM 1987 SA)

New Members

A total of 129 new members joined the Club in 2011.

Vale

Note: The passing of HCA Patron Rt. Hon. Sir Zelman Cowan 1919 - 2011 died at the age of 92 on the 8th December, 2011.

Sir Archibald Glenn 1911-2012. Sir Archibald died in January aged 100. He was an HBS AMP 1957, and an inaugural member of HCA in 1962, then an Honorary Member of HCV.

Annual Report

The Council decided to continue producing an economical abridged version of the Annual Report. Members wishing to view the full report may request a copy from the Administrator by email.

HCA Council

The Harvard Club of Australia would not be possible without the hard work and dedication of a wide range of members. In particular, I would like to recognise the contribution of the Councillors and its Executive, all of whom are volunteers and give of their time most graciously.

I would like to extend a special thank you to:

Richard Broinowski, who is the convenor of our very successful Monday Club lunches. He attracts interesting and often very controversial speakers from all aspects of life, generating lively lunch debates.

Ted Blamey, who is the longest serving Councillor of the club and contributes to all areas with equal energy and insight, although he is most recognised as the leader of our non-profit awards and non-profit program.

Juliet Anderson and the team at Anderson Knight, who have done a great job taking over the Club administration and supporting the Council and Executive.

A special mention to my fellow Executive, who have been great support and colleagues to me during my two years as President. Thank you!

As always, the Executive and Council welcomes the contributions and involvement from all members as we are looking for new ideas and interesting activities.

Dear Peter

Agreed upon procedures: Harvard Club of Australia

We are pleased to present our Agreed upon procedures report in respect of Harvard Club of Australia together with their statement of financial position as of 31 December 2011 and statement of comprehensive income for the year ended.

As we have only performed an agreed upon procedures and not an audit, the statement of financial position and statement of comprehensive income are unaudited. The statement of financial position and statement of comprehensive income should be read in conjunction with the Agreed upon procedures report.

Please note that the statement of financial position and statement of comprehensive income are not a financial report as it does not include a statement of compliance, a basis of preparation and other accompanying notes and disclosures. The statement of financial position and statement of comprehensive income are unaudited and are intended for use only by the members of the respective entities and should not be made available to non-members without our express permission. Any reference to the statement of financial position and statement of comprehensive income should include the word "Unaudited".

As per our prior year 'Report of Factual Findings' dated 10 August 2011, repeat findings in this report note:

- an insufficient audit trail with respect to event income recorded in the GoPay system;
- reconciling differences between the general ledger and GoPay treasurer's report.

In addition, there remain opportunities to improve the assistance provided to KPMG by management and Harvard Club of Australia's administrators in preparation of records, general documents and explanations we require for purposes of our agreed upon procedures engagement.

Thank you for your support and please contact us if we can be of further assistance.

Yours faithfully

Kathy Ostin

AUSTRALIA-HARVARD FELLOWS 2012

Dr Ali Abbas, PhD, Senior Lecturer & Director Lab for Multiscale Systems, School of Chemical & Biomolecular Engineering, University of Sydney, will visit the lab of Professor Ali Khademhosseini MSc, PhD, Harvard Medical School and Brigham & Women's Hospital, Boston, to further the collaboration between the Harvard University and the University of Sydney. He will work with the Professor's research group in setting-up research collaboration in the area of stem cell bio-processing. Prof. Khademhosseini will lend his extensive expertise in handling and culturing stem cells while Dr Abbas will provide his expertise in bio-processing and process modelling.

Dr Tyler L Bourke, PhD, Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astro-physics , Harvard University. To obtain further observations of mm waves using the upgraded Australian Telescope, Narrabri and to plan expansion of their observations to sub-mm wavelengths with the Submillimeter Array in Hawai'i. To identify disks where growth to at least cm sized grains has occurred and to correlate these observations with infrared observations, that probe disk conditions much closer to the star than do mm and cm observations. To strengthen Assoc Professor Astrophysicist Sarah Maddison, Centre for Astrophysics & Supercomputing and her research groups making them more relevant in this area of international astronomical research. Swinburne University of Technology. Melbourne.

Dr Daniel E Janes, PhD, Research Fellow, Dept of Organismic and Evolutionary Biology, Faculty of Arts and Sciences, Harvard University. To describe the evolution of avian sex chromosomes through comparative analysis with a genome of a crocodylian. Characterisation of chromosomal differences between a bird and a crocodylian will enable description of sex-determining mechanisms that have persisted within but not between them. To bring various sex-linked genes and microscope slides to Professors Stephen Sarre, Arthur Georges, & Tariq Ezaz from the Wildlife Genetics Lab at Institute of Applied Ecology, University of Canberra in order to prepare chromosome slides to map the various markers. Ultimately this work will enable the chromosomal evolutionary history to be defined.

Dr Michael C McCarthy, PhD, Federal Staff Scientist, Harvard-Smithsonian Center for Astrophysics; Associate of Harvard College Observatory and School of Engineering & Applied Sciences, Harvard University. To detect the electronic spectra of large carbon molecules in the rich transition region between one-dimensional carbon chains, two-dimensional polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons, and three-dimensional structures, such as corannulene, a geodesic polyarene, considered a fragment of buckminsterfullerene to enable the measurement of the laboratory spectra of many carbon-containing molecules. These studies, in collaboration with Dr Tim Schmidt, PhD, Senior Lecturer, School of Chemistry, University of Sydney could impact on chemical and astrophysical research, leading to new discoveries, an improved understanding as to the extent of organic chemistry and the chemical bond in the interstellar gas, and a much clearer picture of the dominant molecular reservoirs in space.
